INFECTIOUS DISEASES: Infectious diseases touch the lives of everyone on the planet. On a worldwide scale, infectious diseases account for 26 percent of all deaths, second only to cardiovascular diseases. This course gives a comprehensive overview of diseases from the mundane to the fatal from renowned physician and award-winning professor Dr. Barry Fox. You will see how disease agents invade the body; follow germs through to different body systems and see what effects they have; and learn why we may be losing the battle against some germs.
